they have enough cotes in both house of the legislature pledged to ratification to secure the adoption of the amendment, but nevertheless they are sending out appeals to Goy Cey and Senator Harding to use their influence to bring the legislators into line. The partisan ratification committees which the leaders substituted for the cordial advocacy of men and women of all factions and elements, genuinely interested in securing suffrage, has had the effect of irritating some of the legislators. In some instances it has been pointed out that local ratification leaders in some communities are so hostile to the members of the legislature that their appearance and solicinature that their appearance and solicinate to the legislature that their appearance and solicinate the securing such as the securing s so hostile to the members of the legis lature that their appearance and solici-tation will have the reverse effect from that intended. Letter to Mrs. Catt.

A letter from Mrs. James S. Finckard, of Montgomery, Ala., president of the Southern Woman's League for the Rejection of the Susan B. Anthony Amendment, addressed to Mrs. Carris Chapman Catt, of New York, head of the suffrage organization, has been most effective. The letter is as follows:
"My Dear Mrs. Catt: Southern women abhor political combat for their sex That is one of the reasons they deeply oppose the campaign of your organization to plunge women into perjectual political turmoit.

"We have no desire to make your campaign unpleasant, but we must insirt at any cost that it be honest.

"You are quoted in a morning newspaper as saying: There is nothing in the past quarter of a sentury that would be so indicative of the traditions of the Old South as would the ratification of this amendment.

"In yiew of this remarkable statement, I must ask you what your association meant when it passed a formal resolution, printed in the Crisis, official negro organ, November, 1917, page 12, five months after that paper had induced the intermarriage of races, as follows:

"That all American men or women."

had indersed the intermarriage of races, as follows:

"That all American men or women, white or black, shall share equally in the privileges of democracy.
"Again, what did you mean when, in a signed article in the same issue of that official nearo organ, you wrote:

"Suffrage democracy knows no bias of race, color, creed or sex."
"Again, what did you mean when, in a formal address before a convention of your association at Washington, Dec. 5, 1913, you declared:

"Our cause can wait no longer. If the constitution stands in our way, I say let us tear it to shreds and make a new one. We must train our guns on the South."

indicative of the traditions of the Old South."

"In Tennessee, as you know, ratification cannot be accomplished without the violation of a selemn eath of office by every legislator who votes for your amendment. Even Northern newspapers that make no pretense of 'elevating the morals of politics,' such as the New York Journal of Commerce, atrong?ly condemns this Tenessee proposition as a matter of plain perjury. "To you dare intimate, however indirectly, that the commission of perjury by public officers is 'indicative of the traditions of the Old South."

The implication conveyed by the letter, of course, is that Mrs. Catt and other Eastern women are more interested in securing a full expression of the negre population, men and women, at the polls than they are in the question of equal suffrage for all persons.

The presence of Miss Sue White of Tennessee and other women of the militant type who picketed the White House, Eccled the president and burned his addresses at public bonfres, causing near riots in Washington, are not conductive to the best results.

Women Also See Influences

(Special Correspondent of The News

COLUMBUS, O., Aug. 5.-Women ar ctimes supposed to arrive at con usions by intuition, but whatever is It the bottom of it, the fact is several suffrage leaders who are keeping a close watch on Gov. Cox and Senator Harding apenty say the Republican and fremocratic candidates for the presidency, either separately or together, can furnish the necessary state to make valid the Nineteenth amendment enfranchising the women of the country. The suffrage leaders make out a circumstantial case tending to show that they are the victims of political chicalory. And if Tennessee doesn't ratify the amendment next week they will not hesitate to place the blame where they think it should be placed. The women have expressed suspicion about the sincerity of both the Republican and Democratic efforts to get the suffrage amendment ratified. Complaint is made that the Republicans in the senate could have furnished the extra vote to get the amendment through the reassion of congress in which the Democratic last exercised control and that more time would have thus been available to get the approval of state legislatures before the presidential election. It is declared, for instance, that Senator Hale of Maine, Republican, could have voted for suffrage as easily when the Democratis had control as when the Republicans came into power a few months later.

Chamber of Commerce Committee Hears Reports Upon Progress.

At a meeting of the organization com nittee of the college for Memphis campaign, at the Chamber of Commercial Wednesday, reports of the publicity, hospitality and listing committees were read. A partial report was also made by the initial committee who has been appointed to secure the contributions necessary to success of the campaign.

Several speakors were heard at the meeting and all voiced the opinion that Memphis was awakening to the need of a college and predicts a big success for the campaign to raise funds.

The various Presbyteffan churches of the city upon the request of the chamber committee in charge of the campaign, have named committees to add the initial committee in conducting the drive for funds. Several of the church committees were announced at Wednesday's meeting. They are:

Alabama Street Church—R. B. Clinton, chairman; R. Y. Wellford, H. H. Hull, George C. Mason and Wellford Withers.

Prices and Your New Edison

The New Edison has increased in price since August 1, 1914, less than 15 per cent, including war tax.

This does not mean Mr. Edison has escaped rising costs. He has absorbed, personally, the great increased taxes and the soaring cost of skilled labor and materials. But all costs and prices are of uncertain temper these days. The price of the New Edison may yet have to be raised. But Mr. Edison will hold out against any advance, as long as he can.
